

Research Paper Works Cited v.P

Directions: You will be creating a works cited for your research paper. You need to keep track of ALL of the sources you use while researching your topic.

EasyBib and Noodletools are two on-line sites you can use to construct your works cited. To find links, go to the course website: <http://wh2remsen.weebly.com> and click on the “research paper” page.

Citing Your Sources

- The works cited must be created in your Google drive
- Your works cited must be a minimum of 8 sources, including:
 - 1 book (may be electronic)
 - 1 news article
 - 2 sources from databases (SIRS, Vermont on-line)
 - 4 other sources
- Your works cited needs to be in MLA format and must include all of the necessary information.
- You need to include ALL of the sources you used in your paper, even if you only got one fact from the source.
- Do not include URLs.
- If you choose to create an annotated bibliography, the annotation directly follows the bibliographical entry. Your evaluation of each source must answer all of these questions:
 - What is the goal of the source? (Examples: share or shape opinions, share information, make a profit, etc.)
 - Is the source reliable? Explain why. (Consider such things as the timeliness of the information, the qualifications of the source, and the potential bias of the source)
 - Was the source helpful? How did you use it?

Research Paper Works Cited v.H

Directions: You will be creating a works cited for your research paper. You need to keep track of ALL of the sources you use while researching your topic.

EasyBib and Noodletools are two on-line sites you can use to construct your works cited. To find links, go to the course website: <http://wh2remsen.weebly.com> and click on the “research paper” page.

Citing Your Sources

- The works cited must be created in your Google drive
- Your works cited must be a minimum of 10 sources, including:
 - 2 book (may be electronic)
 - 1 news article
 - 2 sources from databases (SIRS, Vermont on-line)
 - 5 other sources
- Your works cited needs to be in MLA format and must include all of the necessary information.
- You need to include ALL of the sources you used in your paper, even if you only got one fact from the source.
- Do not include URLs.
- If you choose to create an annotated bibliography, the annotation directly follows the bibliographical entry. Your evaluation of each source must answer all of these questions:
 - What is the goal of the source? (Examples: share opinions, share information, make a profit, etc.)
 - Is the source reliable? Explain why.
 - Was the source helpful? How did you use it?
- Attach this sheet to the completed bibliography.